

“Sanya is a rare combination of intellect, leadership, and innovation. She took the lead in standardizing data collection protocols, and streamlining patient interactions. She is exceptionally hardworking, ethically sound and a visionary thinker—a quality that will allow her to excel in her endeavours. I do not doubt that her future research will continue to drive meaningful change in both the healthcare and business sectors.” -

Dr. Raju Khubchandani, M.D., Section Head of Rheumatology, SRCC Children’s Hospital, Mumbai; Honorary Consultant in Pediatrics, Breach Candy Hospital

My name is Pia Sutaria. I am a Professional Dancer and Musical Theatre Performer, Registered Teacher with the Royal Academy of Dance, UK and Founder of Vocational Dance School “Institute of Classical and Modern Dance” in Mumbai, India. I am also the Ballet Master to the Professional Program and Company at the Shiamak Davar Institute in Mumbai and have been teaching in India and internationally for a decade. Most recently, I have been a Disney Scholar and Graduate of the Royal Academy of Music, UK.

It is an absolute honor to write Sanya this letter of recommendation having known her since she first began training under me at The Institute of Classical and Modern Dance in 2018. Despite being in her early teens, Sanya brought with her an incredible sense of enthusiasm and hunger to learn as well as immense passion and resilience. In no time, she began to excel at Jazz and Modern, along with training in Contemporary, Ballet [RAD], and Gymnastics. The Institute of Classical & Modern Dance, is a one-of-a-kind vocational dance academy in India, which trains and assists young students with exceptional potential to be able to, if they choose, create a self-sustaining career in dance or performing arts. The selection process is extremely competitive, and Sanya was selected as one of 15 dancers amongst 124 dancers who auditioned for her level in our first year. Our aim was to carefully select a group of young dancers that could meet not only the physical demands of intensive dance training, but also had the right work ethic, personality, and who could work well in a team. After rounds of auditioning, what stood out to me was Sanya’s incredibly kind nature and warm heart, with an unwavering sense of ambition. Sanya is now beautifully skilled in Ballet, Jazz, Modern, Tap and Calisthenics! Regardless of the mounting academic rigor of her ICSE board exams and college exams, Sanya’s attitude and love for dance was unwavering and she managed 60 hours of intensive dance a month! If anything, dance remains to her a sanctuary of sorts, as she fully immerses herself in its expression and uses the space as a perfect escape from the stresses of reality. Sanya always comes to class with a smile on her face and leaves doubly radiant!

Her solo performance at an all-India dance competition in New Delhi Called “Mosaic of Dance” left an indelible mark on me, because she found a wonderful sense of maturity in her quality of movement by really digging deep to discover what the song and movement meant to her, and showcased a unique sense of vulnerability at such a young age- It was breathtaking to watch! Over the 2020-21 covid pandemic and lockdown, despite all the adversities and challenges she has had to face, I can safely say the student who has developed and grown the most within our school has been Sanya. I remember seeing her dance in person after 9 months of training solely online from her bedroom, and couldn’t believe how much progress she had made whilst most other students were struggling to re-adjust to dancing in a studio! It has been a great indication of her mindset, passion and ambition- and that she truly makes the best and most of any situation!

In addition to being a wonderful performer, Sanya has always been academically inclined and makes an effort to be a well-informed, well-rounded human being. She expresses herself wonderfully through her poetry which I have recently had the pleasure of reading! It has been an absolute honour to watch her grow into the responsible, strong-minded and talented young woman she is today.

Dance has shaped Sanya’s personality – she uses it to break barriers, to communicate, to explore her potential, to make connections, to discover new boundaries and to spread joy and happiness around her. I truly believe Sanya will be an asset to your institution because she not only displays immense intellectual curiosity, creativity, physical strength, stamina and endurance but also brings with her self-awareness, empathy, positivity and diversity. Sanya believes in following her passion, exploring life and everything it has to offer! Most importantly, she has an incredible heart, which is evident when she moves and performs.

Sincerely,

Pia Sutaria
